

Question

Implement the following class diagrams as follows. Each class implement the Displayable abstract class and the display method should display all the current object's and its superclass object's information.

- Define appropriate arguments for `__init__` so that all the objects can be created properly.
- Define appropriate public properties to access private attributes in other classes.
- Write a main method to test all methods in InternetCompany class including those method inherited from the base classes.

